

Have your say!

Be part of an exciting new route between Oban and Fort William

The proposed route will run for approximately 53 miles from Oban to Fort William. Where possible, it will follow the line of the disused Connel to Ballachulish railway and be an excellent traffic-free route with spectacular views. Once completed, it will become part of Route 78 of the National Cycle Network which will run all the way from Campbeltown to Inverness.

We are looking for your ideas on how to make it the best it can be.

How you can take part

We are looking for the following:

- Name the Path - What should we call the new route?
- How would you like the route to develop?
- Let us know your ideas. These could include:
  - Links to and from your community
  - Seating and shelters
  - Public artwork, poems and stories
  - Information and interpretation about your area for leaflets and panels
  - Facilities or services you or your community could provide for visitors using the route

Call us on: 01852 300099 or 0191 2603833 with your comments.

You can also write to us with your ideas and visit:
